Ars Medicina' - The Art of Medicine - an ancient latin term describing a physician's ability to appropriately apply both the humanistic and scientific aspects of medicine. This is of the utmost importance within the realm of Emergency Medicine - a high stakes, high pressure, routinely scrutinized endeavor where accusations and inquiries are commonplace. It is within this domain that ethics, effort, knowledge and accuracy are paramount.

I'm a vastly experienced, Board Certified Fellow of the American College of Emergency Physicians with over 19 years of experience as an attending physician in the emergency department. I have seen tens of thousands of patients in various environments such as Urban Level 1 trauma teaching centers, small and mid sized rural departments, Indian reservations, and numerous free standing Emergency Departments throughout the country. I've remained clinically active full time and depending upon the facility, also help mentor students and residents in the ED clinical setting. I'm more than qualified to objectively evaluate your questions and concerns pertaining to Emergency Department evaluation, care, and any related claims pertaining to causation, malpractice and negligence.

I have the knowledge, experience, and integrity to take complex medical issues and break them down into layman's terms, providing you with an unbiased and evidence based opinion as to whether or not I believe your case has merit from an emergency perspective.

I check my phone and email frequently, so if I don't answer initially I will get back to you promptly (same or next day).
