

William R. Phillips, Jr. MD

Boston, MA | 678-571-2397 | HospitalMedicineExpert@gmail.com

Summary

I am a board-certified attending physician in Hospital Medicine in active clinical practice. I serve as teaching faculty at Harvard Medical School. I specialize in the care of hospitalized patients who have serious conditions that often require coordination of care from other medical and surgical specialties. I am experienced in legal case review and have extensive teaching experience with medical students, residents, and attendings. I have completed training on how to be an effective expert witness.

Hospitalist Experience

BETH ISRAEL DEACONESS MEDICAL CENTER 2011 – 2013; 2017 – NOW
Boston, MA

- Harvard Medical School teaching faculty
- Member of Hospital Medicine Leadership Team
- Co-authored book chapter on sepsis
- Experience as Oncology Hospitalist

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL 2013 – 2017
Washington, D.C.

- Georgetown University School of Medicine teaching faculty
- Mortality Review Committee member
- Medicine Residency Selection Committee member

Education

MEDICINE RESIDENCY | TUFTS MEDICAL CENTER 2008 – 2011

- Ethics Committee Member
- Volunteer relief work in Haiti after Earthquake
- Teacher of medical students and other residents

DOCTOR OF MEDICINE | DARTMOUTH MEDICAL SCHOOL 2004 – 2008

- Albert Schweitzer Fellow in Medicine
- Arthur Gold Humanism in Medicine Honor Society

BACHELOR OF ARTS | VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY 1999 – 2003

- Magna cum laude
- Ingram Scholarship in academics and service
- 5 additional scholarships, 4 additional honor societies
- Additional awards in leadership and volunteerism