

Publications

Freccero A, Byrne E M, Pedrom S, Sidell D. Risk Assessment and Early Mobilization Pathway Following Pediatric Tracheostomy: A Pilot Study. Laryngoscope. In publication, 2020.

Byrne E M, Sweeney JK, Schwartz N, Umphred D, Constantinou JC. Effects of Instruction on Parent Competency During Infant Handling in a Neonatal Intensive Care Unit. Pediatric Physical Therapy. 31(1):43-49, 2019.

Byrne E M & Campbell, S. K. Physical Therapy Observation and Assessment in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit. Physical and Occupational Therapy in Pediatrics. 33(1):39–74, 2013.

Byrne E M & Garber, J. B. Physical Therapy Intervention in the NICU. Physical and Occupational Therapy in Pediatrics. 33(1):75–110, 2013.

Byrne EM, Sweeney JK, Schwartz N, Umphred D, Constantinou JC. “Effects of Neonatal Physical Therapy Instruction on Parent Competency and Anxiety in a Neonatal Intensive Care Setting”. Dissertation, 2010.

Byrne EM, Constantinou JC, Sweeney JK, Schwartz N, St. John N, Umphred D. Comparison of neonatal physical therapy instructional methods on parent competency in a neonatal intensive care setting. Developmental Medicine and Child Neurology. 2009;51 (Suppl. 5):35.

Byrne EM, Butler E, Constantinou JC. Early detection of cerebral palsy from analysis of four spontaneous movements. Physiotherapy. 2007;93(Suppl. 1): pp. S1-S802.

Byrne EM, Rose J, Butler E, Kermoian R, Constantinou JC. Early detection of cerebral palsy from spontaneous movements using the NASA postural video analysis tool: a correlation to Bayley II PDI scores at 18 months. Developmental Medicine and Child Neurology. 2004;46:19.

Dole RL, Arvidson KM, Byrne EM, Robbins KF, Schasberger BK. Development of a consensus among pediatric specialists on essential characteristics of individualized education programs. Pediatric Physical Therapy. 2003;15:159-166.